

Docket # 98N1230 96P-0418 97P-01978 / 2 / 99

To the FDA

It's the FDA's ~~responsibility~~ responsibility to do more than just put bacteria warning labels on egg cartons + regulate egg refrigeration temps.

It's the FDA's responsibility to prohibit the practice of forced molting (because it's cruelty to animals, not at all necessary + because it's been scientifically shown to promote disease by destroying the staring hens immune systems).

The FDA has jurisdiction to ban farm practices, such as forced molting that injure human health. (It's not USDA's job)

The FDA must ban forced molting of laying hens because forced molting is a primary cause of infectious diseases in hens, eggs, + consumers of eggs. Cruelty is Entomination

96P-0418

C 70

The FDA was petitioned in April 1998 to ban forced molting. This petition should be granted without further delay. Hopefully in the very near future people will learn OVER that all forms of cruelty to animals domestic or wild is equally to all of society & the earth itself.

Sincerely
Carol A. Diaz
